

Books Tatin Giannaro
Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch

Books Tatin Giannaro
Bücher Tatin Giannaro
Rights Catalogue 2020

Contemporary fiction with strong female protagonists.
Realism combining elements of suspense with elements of humor.

Painting portraits of modern-day life, sprinkled with thoughts about fundamental values and events in human life, including stories of love. Looking at society and its rules of behaviour, against the background of recent historical events.

Tatin Giannaro writes about young women in foreign countries. Her theme is “Exciting Truths. Stories about life”. Her favorite topic is the emotions and desires of humans and universal human values.

Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch
Kronberg, Germany

Books Tatin Giannaro
Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch

Das Flüstern des Bosphorus (The Whisper of the Bosphorus)

Author: Tatin Giannaro

Category

Contemporary urban fiction with elements of adventure in Istanbul.
Strong female characters.

Description

Six young women and men from five different countries meet in Istanbul. At the touching point of Europe with Asia an adventure in the spirit of the “Abduction from the Seraglio” brings them into unexpected danger.

Two women. Four men. A wedding in Istanbul.

A modern, inverse “Abduction from the Seraglio”. A life-or-death adventure at the Bosphorus. Sandy and Connie from Europe meet in the Hagia Sofia four friends: Pedro, Jean-Paul, and the cousins Osman and Selim who are in Istanbul for their cousin’s wedding. In the city between Orient and Occident, Germany, France, Spain, the UK and Turkey meet. Suddenly, Sandy’s and Connie’s relaxed holiday trip to the Bosphorus with unexpected love options develops into a Turkish adventure between East and West.

Why this book is important

Clashes between Europe and Asia and between old tradition and modern life have effects on social and private life, today more than ever. For everybody interested in the encounters of different cultures.

Author biography

Tatin Giannaro writes exciting truths, stories about life. She has lived and studied in Germany and in New York. She worked in consulting and in industry and has travelled many countries including her mother’s homeland Greece. Currently, she is living near Frankfurt, Germany, where she is writing about her favorite topic: emotions and desires of humans and universal human values. She is inspired by the Greek atmosphere at the Aegean Sea.

Bibliographic Information

Publish State	Published
Readership	General
Language	German
Publication Country / Place	Germany
Publisher / Imprint	Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch, Kronberg, Germany
Published Date	December 2017 (ebook October 2017)
Title Identifier (ISBN/ISSN)	9783944329222
Format	Paperback with flaps (Klappenbrochur)
Pages	327
Dimensions	210 x 148 cm
Rights Information	Worldwide
Rights contact	Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch

Wahrheit in Gefahr (Truth in danger)

Author: Tatin Giannaro

Category

Contemporary fiction with elements of suspense and a love story against the background of recent political events in Greece. Strong female characters.

Description

The story follows two young women in their fight against corruption in a summer resort at the Aegean Sea. An intense love from the past blurs the lines. While Greece is drowning in the financial debt crisis, their search for the truth puts them into unexpected danger.

A story about justice, love, corruption and a lot of money.

A summer resort at the Aegean Sea. Alithea and Elli start asking questions about the resort's finances. Despite obstacles and no help from anywhere, the two young women are trying to discover the truth and to find a way to fight back against financial exploitation and corruption. Intense emotions of a love from Alithea's past surface again to blur the lines between friend and foe. Meanwhile, all of Greece is drowning ever deeper in the financial debt crisis and the triangle of corruption. While political events in the country develop, the paradise-like summer life at the sea turns into an unexpected danger.

Why this book is important

A historical account of Greece during the financial crisis and its political events. A story about how ever-present corruption is pervading society and the effects on social and private life. And a story about a fundamental decision: love or justice in a corrupt world.

Author biography

Tatin Giannaro writes exciting truths, stories about life. She has lived and studied in Germany and in New York. She worked in consulting and in industry and has travelled many countries including her mother's homeland Greece. Currently, she is living near Frankfurt, Germany, where she is writing about her favorite topic: emotions and desires of humans and universal human values. She is inspired by the Greek atmosphere at the Aegean Sea.

Bibliographic Information

Publish State	Published
Readership	General
Language	German
Publication Country / Place	Germany
Publisher / Imprint	Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch, Kronberg, Germany
Published Date	November 2014 (ebook October 2014)
Title Identifier (ISBN/ISSN)	9783944329147
Format	Paperback with flaps (Klappenbrochur)
Pages	362
Dimensions	210 x 148 cm
Rights Information	Worldwide
Rights contact	Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch

Die gelbe Perlenkette (The yellow pearls)

Author: Tatin Giannaro

Category

A story of love and migration in Germany, with some suspense. Very current as migrant streams across the world keep moving. Strong female character.

Description

A foreign young woman comes to Berlin in the 1970ies, not speaking any German. The story follows her quest for happiness, love, and a self-determined life, symbolized by a yellow pearl necklace, against all obstacles in the foreign German society.

Young Greek Adeline is searching for a better life and happiness in Berlin's sparkling world. The foreign language, unknown conventions of society and Fritz are in her way. Alone and desperate, she finally accepts his proposal to marry him.

Why this book is important

The story narrates the experience of migration to Germany in the 1970ies and is very current with the ongoing migration streams across the world. It depicts German society and culture during the 1970ies.

It shows the departure of a young woman into a foreign country and the struggle to survive in the new environment, and to find a self-determined life in an unknown, sometimes hostile society. It's a narration about love in a foreign land and about the courage to fight for her own paradise in a foreign society.

Author biography

Tatin Giannaro writes exciting truths, stories about life. She has lived and studied in Germany and in New York. She worked in consulting and in industry and has travelled many countries including her mother's homeland Greece. Currently, she is living near Frankfurt, Germany, where she is writing about her favorite topic: emotions and desires of humans and universal human values. She is inspired by the Greek atmosphere at the Aegean Sea.

Bibliographic Information

Publish State	Published
Readership	General
Language	German
Publication Country / Place	Germany
Publisher / Imprint	Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch, Kronberg, Germany
Published Date	September 2011 (ebook November 2012)
Title Identifier (ISBN/ISSN)	9783000352058
Format	Paperback with flaps (Klappenbrochur)
Pages	228
Dimensions	210 x 148 cm
Rights Information	Worldwide
Rights contact	Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch

Schatten im Apfel (Shadow in the Apple)

Author: Tatin Giannaro

Category

Contemporary fiction about an adventure of life in a foreign country, with a love story and an account of historical events. Strong female character.

Description

The story follows a foreign graduate student at Columbia University right after the turn of the millennium. She experiences the vibrant world of New York City, the fight for housing and jobs, and the attacks of September 11, 2001.

A dream comes true: Katris goes to New York. She just needs to find an apartment before her MBA-program at Columbia University starts. She has 14 days.

The intense study program starts. America is different than expected. Katris feels like living in a movie. When she finally gets housing from the University, she feels more than happy. While she is searching for the man with the green eyes she met there years before, suddenly her roommate tries to drive her out of the apartment. The University administration is watching, then takes sides – with the roommate. Katris' dream turns into a fight against intrigues, the University, and the danger in her hard-won apartment. Nobody suspects the bigger danger approaching New York on a sunny September morning.

Why this book is important

A story about the fights and challenges of a new life in a foreign country. A detailed and authentic description of life in New York in the years 2000-2002 and a historical account of being a foreigner during and after the September 11, 2001 attacks.

Author biography

Tatin Giannaro writes exciting truths, stories about life. She has lived and studied in Germany and in New York. She worked in consulting and in industry and has travelled many countries including her mother's homeland Greece. Currently, she is living near Frankfurt, Germany, where she is writing about her favorite topic: emotions and desires of humans and universal human values. She is inspired by the Greek atmosphere at the Aegean Sea.

Bibliographic Information

Publish State	Published
Readership	General
Language	German
Publication Country / Place	Germany
Publisher / Imprint	Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch, Kronberg, Germany
Published Date	October 2010 (ebook March 2012)
Title Identifier (ISBN/ISSN)	9783000314643
Format	Paperback with flaps (Klappenbrochur)
Pages	617
Dimensions	210 x 148 cm
Rights Information	Worldwide
Rights contact	Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch

Grüne Tränen (Green Tears)

Author: Tatin Giannaro

Category

Contemporary fiction. A story of love in reality. Strong female character.

Description

The story follows a young foreign woman and the turbulent experiences in her fight to win her big love, against the background of the 1970ies society in Germany.

Alisia meets George. An encounter of destiny. It's love at first sight. Two barriers are between them: Alisia's marriage, that she feels like a cage, and the women who surround George. Alisia is torn between hope and desperation. In the interpretation of her unusual, surreal dreams, she searches for the right path through the ups and downs of this love. The obstacles in Alisia's way are growing. His relationships with women, too. Might the biggest barrier for their love be him?

An open and relentless description of the light and the dark sides of the reality of a young woman's big love. A document of the nineteen seventies in Germany.

Why this book is important

An account of a love story with a relentlessly honest view of a woman on the real ups and downs of a love in a foreign country. A multi-layered story that opens a peek into the inner thoughts of a woman. A narration that awakens the longings and the dreams buried inside the reader. A book that gives courage to free oneself and make your dreams come true.

Author biography

Tatin Giannaro writes exciting truths, stories about life. She has lived and studied in Germany and in New York. She worked in consulting and in industry and has travelled many countries including her mother's homeland Greece. Currently, she is living near Frankfurt, Germany, where she is writing about her favorite topic: emotions and desires of humans and universal human values. She is inspired by the Greek atmosphere at the Aegean Sea.

Bibliographic Information

Publish State	Published
Readership	General
Language	German
Publication Country / Place	Germany
Publisher / Imprint	Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch, Kronberg, Germany
Published Date	July 2009; Ebook new edition July 2020
Title Identifier (ISBN/ISSN)	9783000275838; 9783944329253
Format	Paperback with flaps (Klappenbrochur)
Pages	281
Dimensions	210 x 148 cm
Rights Information	Worldwide
Rights contact	Dr. Olga-Tatjana Rauch